

Good Experts Are Essential

Good experts have never been more important because questions of liability and intellectual property are increasingly difficult to determine as the range of technology issues is ever-increasing. Litigation adds 2.5% to the average cost of all new products developed in the United States, and intellectual property rights issues are the largest intangible asset in many corporations.

ITC Experts helps you better handle the potentially major economic impact of litigation and intellectual property issues.

ITC provides access to uniquely qualified technical specialists, ensuring that your work product is objective, sound, complete, and in compliance with recent U.S. Supreme Court decisions on expert testimony.

ITC provides highly qualified lead experts who have extensive insurance investigation and litigation experience, but ITC is unique in using a collaborative approach to access a far broader range of industry experts who possess specific experience, academic experts who possess specialized skills, and extensive testing resources.

You receive the advantages of a top experts coupled (when needed) with the resources of a multi-disciplinary team, all delivered in a cost-effective, as needed manner.
